B. COURSE POLICIES

1. Commitment and Attendance	Attendance is required; and university regulations in this regard are strictly applied. It is important to note the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> The student is expected to follow all announcements issued by the university, faculty, department as well as the course instructor through the official channels. It is the student's full responsibility to get aware of these announcements and to react accordingly. The student has to communicate electronically with the course instructor, whenever needed, through the official channels exclusively which are limited to the AAUP email and Moodle messages only. The student is expected to attend all classes* and to arrive at classroom on time. If the instructor is late for class, the student must wait for at least 10 minutes before leaving the classroom. Absence by more than 25% of classes leads to an automatic withdrawal from the course (the grade W is assigned).
2. Performance of assessment activities	The student must perform all course assessment activities, i.e. assignments, quizzes, exams etc. It is important to note the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Absence from an exam or a quiz other than the final exam leads to a zero mark in that exam or quiz. An exception allowing a makeup is made for a student submitting a legitimate excuse that is accepted by the instructor in a timely manner. Absence from the final exam leads to an FA grade that eventually turns to an F grade. An exception allowing a makeup exam is made if the student submits an official excuse that is accepted by the Academic Affairs in compliance with the university regulations.

Course Syllabus

3. Academic Integrity	The student is expected to be honest during the performance of assessment activities. While not limited to the list below, the following actions are examples of cheating: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Copying from other students. 2. Using materials that are not authorized by the proctor during quizzes or exams. 3. Collaborating with other students during quizzes or exams. 4. Stealing or buying the content of exams, quizzes, and assignments. 5. Stealing ideas and work of others and presenting them as that of the student
	The university uses the letter grading system. It is important to note the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The passing grade is D, and the corresponding score (out of 100) is determined at the end of the semester. 2. At the end of the semester, the scale of scores is determined by converting each
5. Learning and teaching methods	Lectures	Class sessions involve lectures, video shows, case studies, discussions, debates, and power-point presentations on topics and current issues related to the course contents.
	Readings	This must be a key responsibility to each student. Students should read the relevant parts of the textbook and other materials before class. They should be prepared to raise questions and to get engaged in arguments on related topics in the class schedule.
	In class learning activities	Students are encouraged to learn actively individually and cooperatively in groups. Students are expected to engage with the material, participate in the class, and collaborate with each other. Students will be asked to analyze an argument, demonstrate role play, discuss case studies, make presentations, or apply a concept to a real-world situation.
	Feedback	The instructor provides the students with feedbacks on their performance throughout the course, which can help them to realize their weaknesses and work harder to improve their performance.
	Online learning	Online learning platforms are utilized to provide students with additional resources as well as a continuous access to the course material beyond the classroom.
